When you try to protect a free economy
with a cargo of mercantilist slogans...

4.

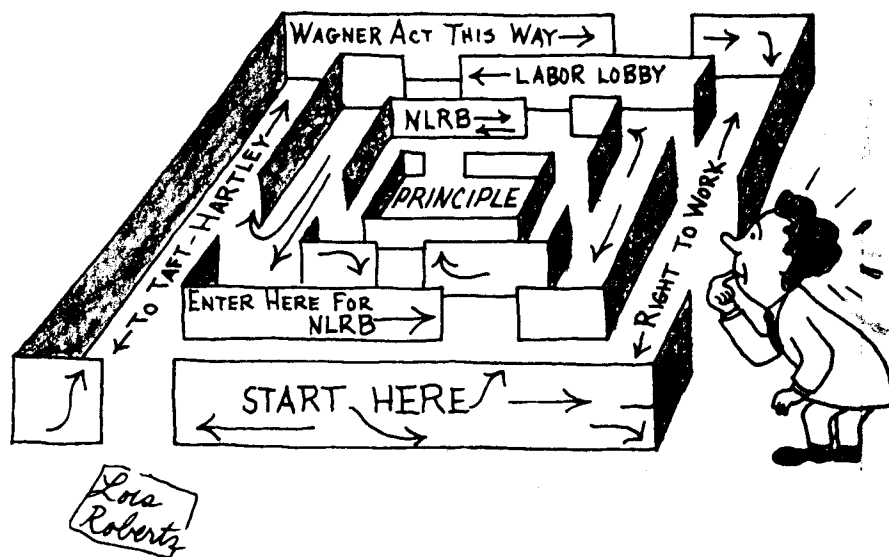

Its foundations may be eaten away.

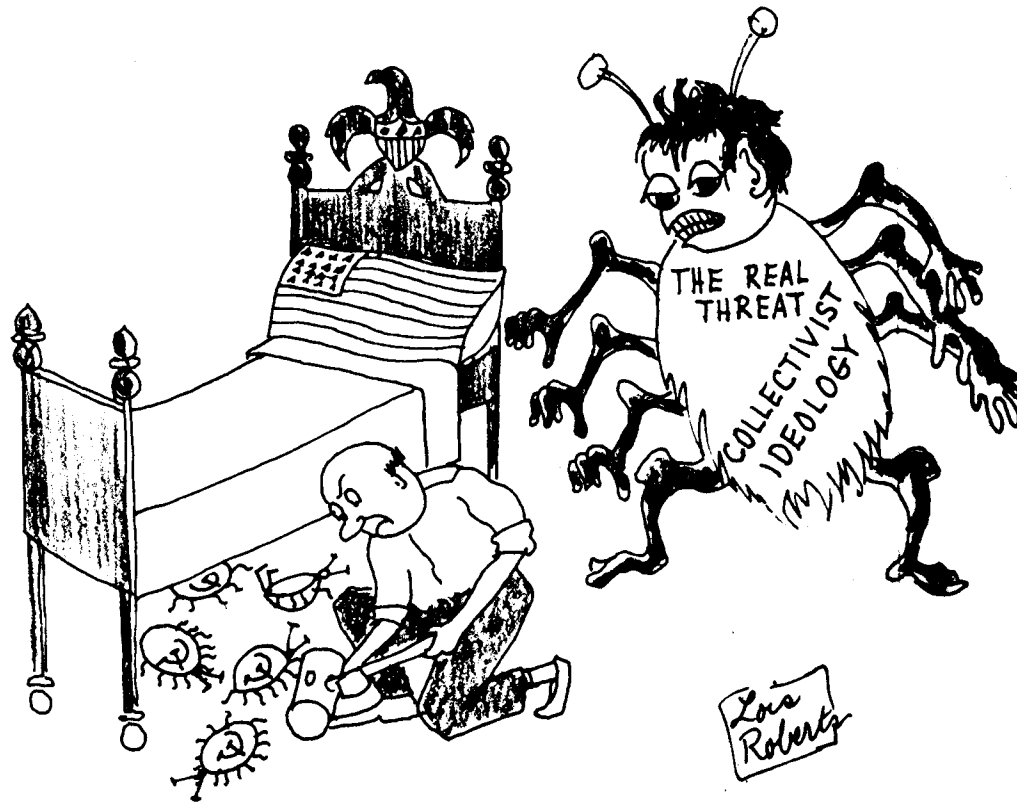

You may not know who your friends are...

You may not know which way to turn...

Even though you are resolute in your fight against evil

And have leaders who seize every opportunity...

To air the issues openly and honestly.

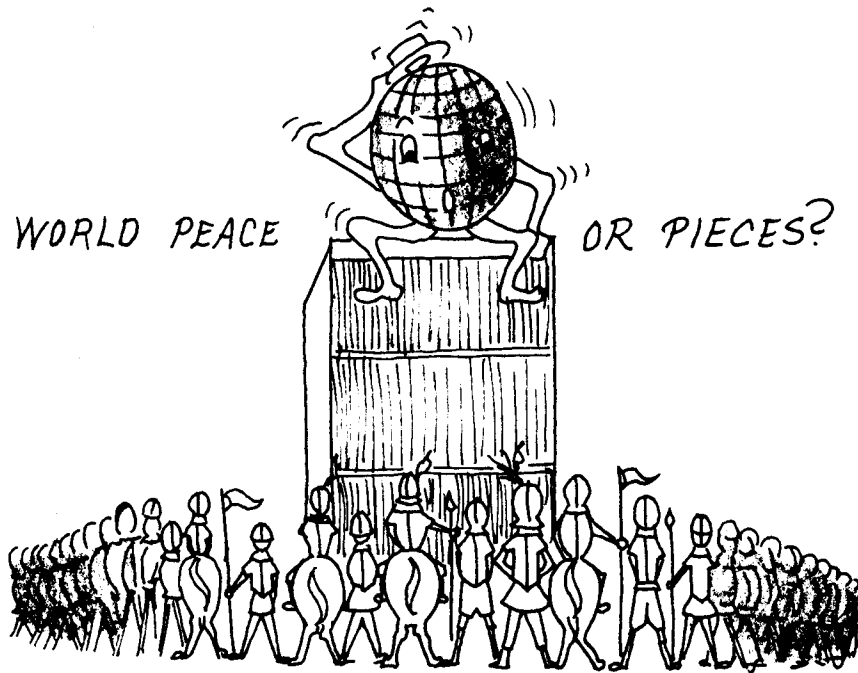

While there's no doubt that things are growing...

We are told some waste is unavoidable.

And even though our foreign policy may be shaky...

Americans always know where they are going.

Of course, some careers take more out of you than others.

But we have been raised and educated...

To protect the traditions that the government has come to hold dear.

What can one do to correct a history
of compromise and contradiction?

We can use those Constitutional remedies we have...

And refuse to allow Capitalism
to be a“straw man”any longer.
